The review results of the 10th Call for Proposals in the field of “Agriculture”
on the topic of “Functional Food and Nutrition”

This is to announce that there was one proposal in response to the e-ASIA Joint Research Program (e-ASIA JRP*1) 10th Call for Proposals in the field of “Agriculture” on the topic of “Functional Food and Nutrition”.

Based on the Eligibility Check (the 1st step of the review process) by the four funding organizations from four countries participating in the call*2, there were no proposals deemed to be eligible and proceeded to the next review process; thus, no proposals were selected.

On behalf of the e-ASIA JRP, we would like to express our sincere gratitude for your interest and submission as well as your continued support for the e-ASIA JRP.

*1 The e-ASIA Joint Research Program (e-ASIA JRP)

Through the acceleration of science and technology research exchange and collaboration in the East Asian region, the e-ASIA Joint Research Program (e-ASIA JRP) aims to strengthen research and development capabilities towards resolution of shared challenges across the region, including those associated with materials, alternative energy, agriculture, health research, disaster risk reduction and management, advanced interdisciplinary research towards innovation, and environment. As part of that objective, the e-ASIA JRP intends to support the multilateral collaborative research projects, which must consist of three or more countries.
